

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Euroquartz continues to strive to achieve excellence in all areas of it's business including minimising the environmental impacts and risk of our business operations.

Our commitment is to:

- Protect and minimise negative environmental impact of our business operations.
- Continually seek ways to improve our environmental procedures to integrate environmental management best practice based on ISO14001 principles through use of our AS9100 quality management system.
- Measure and take action to reduce our carbon footprint as part of a gradual process to a zero carbon future.
- Minimise our energy consumption as part of our business processes and seek clean energy sources and low energy equipment where possible.
- Continue to reduce the use of toxic substances on the site.
- Manage waste responsibly by incorporating recycling, reuse and licensed disposal of substances where applicable.
- Promote a continued reduction of paper during business operations and promote more digital processing.
- Give due consideration to environment issues during the procurement and export of products and services.
- Comply with all environmental regulation / legislation such as ROHS, REACH & Conflict Minerals as well as any other regulation and/ or legislation pertinent to our business.

To meet our commitments we will:

- Review our environmental policy and procedures regularly in accordance with our AS9100 procedures and implement our internal audit programme should areas of concern arise.
- Maintain a risk register to identify areas of opportunity for improvement of environmental impact areas.
- Use established environmental / sustainability help tools to establish a strategy towards a more environmentally friendly and sustainable business model.
- Establish relevant environmental Quality Objectives and monitor targets to ensure regulatory and legislative compliance to meet ours and interested parties requirements.
- Monitor external sources and encourage environmental awareness and performance where possible.
- Establish business relationships with licensed disposal companies to ensure compliant disposal practises are adhered to when necessary.
- Work with our people to promote improved environmental management.
- Ensure all employees are made aware of this policy and communicate the importance of relevant environmental issues.

Euroquartz is committed to a more sustainable and environmentally friendly future for ourselves, our customers and wider society.
